The market has recovered some what from the shock it received at the time of the Alta explosion, yet the mines at the south end lag, and it will be long before they reach their former figures. Those who have money with which to buy are holding off to see what is going to be done in the way of a compromise or adjustment by some other means of the difficulties at present existing between the Alta and Justice companies. The prospects of both companies are excellent, but people do not care to buy into trouble at any high figure. The Justice company are now running the Pacific mill, which reduces from 75 to 80 tons of ore per day, and have on hand some 600 tons, with much good ore in sight in various parts of the mine. From present indications they think they will shortly be able to start up several other mills, as well as keep the Pacific mill in constant operation.

The Ophir company now have things in such shape on the 1900 level of their mine that they may boldly drift in any direction, as they are prepared to handle any quantity of water that is likely to be encountered. It cannot now be very long before they will be ready to cross-cut the new ore body from the drift that has been so long run just outside of it in the east porphyry. At the Mexican they will soon be in a situation to do some prospecting at a great depth and the indications are good for finding ore in some of the levels about to be opened.

At the flooded mines they will soon be ready to renew the attack on the water and this time without accident unless the Savage mine has been completely turned over to the devil with permission to make of it the most unlucky mine on the ledge.

The big casting for the Veb was successfully lowered last Thursday, and it will not now take long to put the several parts together and make the connection with the standing pump now in place below the 2000 level. During the time the Savage company have been at work on their job the Hile and Norcross folks have put everything about their works in first class order, ready to do the best of work whenever the Savage folks are in a situation to make another attack on the water. It is confidently expected that the next attack will prove successful, as the water is now weaker than it has ever before been seen.

A splendid development has been made far east on the 1750 level of the Consolidated Virginia where a body of wonderfully rich ore 40 feet in width has been found. As this was found in a place where one could hardly have been expected, still other lodes may be found further east. Both the California and Consolidated Virginia mines are yielding as usual, with great bodies of excellent ore still in sight.

Good prospects are being obtained in several of the Gold Hill mines as the Yellow Jacket, Crown Point and Bohler, and in the New York, Lady Washington and other mines in that direction. Excellent indications of ore are being reported.

THE SENATORIAL ELECTION IN NEVADA.

(Eureka-Sentinel)

A correspondent of the Chronicle writing of the coming Senatorial contest in Nevada, argues that the Democrats have a fair prospect of electing the successor of Senator Jones. We believe the chances are about equal, provided the Democrats can muster an able candidate, and while we are not to be easily convinced, we are not sure we have the "stains of war" to overcome the Republican money which is sure to be thrown in the fight at points "where it will do the most good." We have but one such man in the State. Colonel J. M. Furr has the money and ability to make it uncomfortable warm for Jones or anybody else who may enter the list on the other side. With Uncle Jimmy Furr "put up" the solid arguments the Democrats, most probably, would say the State. Without him the outlook is not at all flattering to Democratic hopes. It cannot be successfully controverted that the balance of power element in Nevada politics is purchasable. The political parties being about evenly divided there is no a county in the State that cannot be thrown for either by the expenditure of money at the polls. This has come to be a settled fact in Senatorial elections in Nevada, and no matter how slowly we may strive to maintain the original purity of the ballot box, it is not likely that there will be any change in the immediate future. Hence the man who reckons without taking this important fact into the calculation is very apt to figure wide of the mark. It is not to deal with matters as we find them, but to guide by the experience of the past, and when we do this with reference to our coming Senatorial election we cannot, for the life of us, view the Democratic outlook as being favorable to success. Uncle Jimmy and his millions is the "best" we have. But it is not sure that he will consent to become a candidate, and so the chances of a Republican succeeding Senator Jones [most likely himself] may be considered first-class.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

An appalling famine is raging throughout four provinces of North China; 9,000,000 are reported destitute, and children are daily sold in the streets for food.

Safvet Pasha has informed Minister Layard that the Porte had made a solemn engagement to keep the conditions secret until the treaty was signed. It would communicate them to the Ambassador the moment they were signed.

It is announced that Spain is about to assume a protectorate over San Domingo.

Queen Victoria has conferred the Order of the Garter on King Humbert of Italy.

Russia seems anxious to induce the Continental powers to send their squadrons to Constantinople in the event of the English entering the Sea of Marmora.

Washington society suffers from a secret terror, caused by rumors that the Appropriations Committee means to bring in a bill virtually disbanding the diplomatic service and requiring that hereafter the United States shall have but one Minister in Europe, who shall reside in London and receive reports from Secretaries of Legation in other capitals.

A Paris correspondent modifies his previous telegram relative to the conditions of peace in the following particulars: Kossuth and Andran are to be held as security for a war indemnity, and Battoni to be held to Russia. The Great Powers are to arrange in regard to the opening of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles, and submit the arrangements to the Czar.

In the trial of the Louisiana Returning Board their bonds were declared forfeited and warrants issued for their arrest.

There is a better feeling in England over the Eastern question, and the probabilities of British interference seems lessened.

Senator Jones is confident that the Blind silver bill will pass the Senate, and has made an estimate, placing the vote at 51 in favor, to 22 against it. He disposes of the Pacific Coast Senators thus: Booth, Jones, Glover and Mitchell in favor, and Sargent against.

A rich strike has been made on the Delaney of the Hamburg mine, Eureka.

Two English fleet has arrived at Gallipoli.

It snowed in Eureka all day Saturday.

A rumor prevails in Washington that President Hayes has said that if the silver bill passes with a considerable majority he will not veto it.

The British Admiralty has ordered the dispatch vessel Lively and the frigate Newcastle to be prepared for sea at once.

It is again alleged that the Russians are advancing on Gallipoli.

A San Francisco dispatch to the Virginia Chronicle, of the 26th, says:

There is no change in Alta-Justice affairs so far as known, though a compromise is believed not to be far off. The only hitch now is that the early Washingtonians want to be counted in a tripartite treaty, and the puzzle is what to do with their 60,000 shares. There is a good deal of comment here on the recent purchase by Dan Cook of Alta swindle fame, of the splendid schooner yacht Tidal Wave of New York Yacht Club renown. The Tidal Wave is one of the finest yachts ever in New York Harbor.

The Daily Exchange to-day remarks: We hope Mr. Cook will enjoy many a pleasant cruise in his yacht, and especially do we hope she may never go to the bottom, at least with him on board.

It is the opinion of Southern papers, almost without any exception, that the negroes in the South are dying almost at the rate of four to one, as compared with the whites. The causes are uncleanness, lack of proper food, clothing, shelter and cooking, sensual excesses of all kinds, drunkenness, neglect of the sick, the preference of "conjurers" to physicians, and absence of proper precautions against contagious disease.

SENATOR THURMAN Thursday, in debate in the Senate on Matthews' resolution, said that the re-nomination of silver would place it side by side with gold in twenty-four hours, and no injustice would be done to any one.

THE WORKINGMEN.

The fact cannot be overlooked nor disputed, that labor organizations are being formed throughout the State, and it may reasonably be presumed that the members mean business, and will either place candidates in the field, or endorse those who are known to be in sympathy with their principles on the other ticket next Fall.—Winnemucca Silver State.

The workingmen's wishes should certainly be respected, and any movement calculated to be of benefit to the laboring classes will bring to their support many from each of the present political parties. We hope to see the workingmen take more than usual interest in our elections. It is the duty of every good citizen to participate actively in affairs of State, so that all laws will result more to the advantage of the many than to the few.

DEMOCRATIC POLICY.

The announcement that Hank Mitchell, as he is familiarly called, will be a candidate for Congress, is rather singular. It has been generally understood that Hank was the standing Democratic candidate for United States Senator. His retirement from that position causes surprise, and it is conjectured that it means the advancement of Bradley for Senatorial honors, it being well known that the "old man" bankers after a seat in the Senate. Bradley for Senator, Mitchell for Congress and Higginson for Governor! Wonder if the Democrats propose to fight it out on that line.

WEBSTER MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION.—The publication of Harvey's reminiscences of Daniel Webster—one of the most companionable books issued last year—has awakened a fresh interest in the great statesman, and in Boston they celebrated the 33th anniversary of his birthday, which occurred on the 18th. It was also proposed to form a memorial association, whose object will be to celebrate each recurring anniversary of his birth, also to collect unpublished reminiscences, anecdotes, etc., identified with his life and public services. A pleasant suggestion. Daniel Webster was the greatest of all our distinguished men of the century, a great lawyer, an eminent statesman, and an orator who had no peer in all this broad land. His name and fame are worthy of eternal perpetuation.

MR. GORHAM'S LETTER.—We publish to-day a letter from Hon. George C. Gorham to the Carson Appeal. Its occasion and subject are the attitude and probable candidacy of Senator Jones. The Appeal says: "The letter, written in Mr. Gorham's terse and vigorous English, describes the situation as it is occupied by the Silver Question; and presents the reasons why Mr. Jones should be returned to the Senate. His many friends in Nevada will be glad to hear from Mr. Gorham in this pronounced and emphatic fashion; and as the spontaneous tribute of a man who is in every way qualified to deal with the subject on which he treats, it is a most welcome, timely and pertinent paper."

BRADY IS COMING OUT STRONG in the Senate. He knows he has nothing to expect from Massachusetts, and tried on Tuesday to see what he can make by appealing to the interests opposed to those of Massachusetts. He is preparing another scene with Ben Hill on the old issue, and he hopes by these tricks to hoist himself on a pinnacle of partisan hatred and make popularity for 1880. Everybody agrees that the late affair was a disgrace to the Senate, but Blaine has the sympathies of a majority of the people in Washington, who say that Har and Dawes might simply have rebuked him in a few words and dened the charges without indulging in personal bitterness.

A new invention has been perfected in Paris—that of glass printing type. This kind of type is made of hardened glass, and is as hard as lead. The types last longer than the metallic; are not liable to be crushed by the printing cylinder; they do not suffer in the least from sudden cooling in stereotyping, and they do not injure the health in handling, as lead types do. The new invention has the merit also of being much cheaper.

THE EUREKA SENTINEL thinks the Democrats cannot win the next Senatorial fight in this State unless they can induce James G. Fair to become their candidate. Mr. Fair has always been recognized as a Republican in Storey county, and would possibly object to being dragged, volens volens, into the Democratic camp.

SENATOR JONES.

George C. Gorham is the author of the subjoined letter to the Carson Appeal:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15, 1878.

My Dear Friend:—Your editorial on the next Senatorial election in your State pleased me very much. I wish I could get near enough to every voter in Nevada to tell him how worthy Senator Jones is of an endorsement. He has devoted himself to the study of a great question, and has mastered it; and that is the monetary question. He is to-day one of the most able as well as one of the most celebrated of all the disputants in the great field of the money debate, in Europe and America. The swindle whereby silver was deprived of a portion of its value by being demoted in the United States, at a time when it was more valuable than gold, has been by him discovered and denounced, and the outrage is, under his leadership, about to be undone. Placed at the head of a Monetary Commission composed of Senators, Representatives in Congress and celebrated doctors in political science from unofficial life, he controlled the Commission and made its report. In 128 pages of printed matter, he discusses the laws of finance, the history of coinage in both the precious metals, the policies of all nations, the opinions of all the most noted doctors, and finally the effect of our currency and financial laws upon the industries and property of the country. The New York organs of Belmont and the gold grabbers, and the Boston organs of Averee and Greed, do not take kindly to the searching truth and arguments of Senator Jones, but they attack neither his law nor his facts. They brutally and insolently demand gold alone in the payment of debts legally payable in gold or silver, and increasing its value eight per cent. by fraudulent legislation against silver, and when their swindle is exposed, and a means are inaugurated to repair the great wrong done by them, they resort with vile epithets toward Senator Jones and those who agree with him.

The people of Nevada, in whose midst are located the greatest silver mines in the world, will be proud of having been represented on the floor of the United States Senate by one who leads in the great movement to restore silver to its place; it occupied from the time the patriarch Abraham paid Eubron "four hundred shekels of silver, current money with the merchant," for the cave of Machpelah in which to bury his wife, down to the present year of our Lord 1873. I have thus far spoken only of your Senator's attitude on the silver question, because upon that he is entitled to the support of all who do not want to see half the product of your mines made unavailable. No new man can take his place, and fill it. The gold sharks have able lawyers and adroit depositories on their side, but the pitiless logic and the honest, strong and simple words of Senator Jones on the Senate floor in his silver report, and in private conversations with Senators, have made impressions and established convictions that cannot be changed. The battle is well won. He will be needed in the Senate hereafter to meet, expose and defeat new schemes of the gold gamblers against the people.

But as a Republican, I earnestly deprecate the reelection of Mr. Jones, because, to a degree, excelled by none of our public men, he has been and is faithful to the traditions, the principles and the aims of his party. These he adheres to, no matter with whom he has to contend. The league between the White House and the less many of the Confederates of the Senate, has in him an uncompromising foe. He, in common with many Republicans who are intelligent, and have political convictions, regards the course pursued by the President as a revival of doughfaceism, and has no soft words in which to a crime good intentions to one who has, at the expense of his party, made his peace with the chiefs of those who last Summer murdered Republicans for supporting Hayes and Wheeler. Senator Jones has left no one in doubt as to his abhorrence of the political crimes committed in the interest of the late Confederacy by an Administration brought into existence by Republican votes. This refusal by him to submit to political mutilation, will not, I think, be any stumbling block in the way of those Democrats who are inclined to support him because of his financial opinions. Every Republican who would have his party live as becomes it, or die without recantation should stand by him; and every Democrat who has not sold himself for the hope of a dive at the President's swill-tub should consider whether Jones cannot do more for Nevada than any other man of any party.

You are right in your supposition that the Senator has been financially crippled. He is no longer a man of wealth, though he will not owe the world a dollar when he adjusts his affairs. He was generous with his wealth—not profligate. He has suffered by unfortunate investments, ($300,000 in one direction solely to help a friend into business.) It used to be said that he made a moneyed contest for the Senate in 1872. If to help every poor fellow who was in distress and applied to him, without regard to party, and without thought of reward; if to give with free hand, and to be above thought of turning it to account, was making a moneyed contest, then he did make one. But if it was meant that he put out money as an inducement for nomination, or for votes at primary or general election, or at the Legislature, the accusation was false as you and all well-informed persons know. He cannot be charged with it this year. He makes no demands, asserts no claims, pretends to no indifference. If he is deemed worthy of reelection, I believe I can say, from knowledge, that he would be proud of the honor. For my part I think between him and the State he represents, the honors would be easy. I am to be excused for thrashing in my opinion concerning Nevada affairs, because when in your State I have always been treated as one of your own people.

I have written this without authority or consultation with anybody. If you think there are half a dozen men in Nevada who would care to read it, you are free to print it.

Yours, truly,

Geo. C. Gorham.

THE VOTE ON MATTHEWS RESOLUTION.

Matthews' resolution, making the bonds payable in silver, passed the Senate Friday by a vote of 43 to 22—not quite two thirds. A telegram from Washington gives these particulars, and makes some surmises, as follows:

Forty-three Senators voted for Matthews' resolution and twenty-two against it. Four pairs were announced, and it is known that Ingalls, who was absent without a pair, would have voted with the majority. Kellogg would have probably voted against the resolution and for the purposes of this calculation will be placed among those certain to vote against the Silver bill. The only Senator absent without a pair was Sharon. Assuming that Sharon will be absent when the final vote is taken on the Silver bill, and making the additions to Friday's totals, which are above indicated, it would seem to be certain that no more than twenty-seven votes will be cast against the Silver bill and that at least forty-eight Senators will be recorded in its favor. This number lacks only two votes of being a two-thirds majority, and in case Sharon should arrive, and Paddock and Kellogg, who are considered doubtful, should also vote for the Silver bill, there would be one more than a two-thirds majority for the bill; but even if the measure fails to receive a two-thirds vote it will come so extremely near that proportion that the President's exercise of his veto power in regard to it is very generally considered uncertain. The only Western Senators who voted or were paired against the silver proposition Friday were Sargent, Mitchell, Windom, Paddock and Christiney, and the only Southern Senators opposed to it were Lamar, Hill and Butler. Booth, Jones and Grover voted with the majority in favor of Matthews' resolution, as heretofore foreshadowed in these dispatches.

END OF AN EVENTFUL LIFE.

A locomotive ran over a good deal of human experience near a freight depot in Kansas City, on January 3d. A switch engine with three baggage cars was backing rapidly, when a man rushed from a side crossing and disappeared beneath the wheels; and when the train had passed, the mangled and quivering body of Captain Kottwitz was found lying across the track in a pool of blood. He was an officer of the Russian Imperial Guard during the Crimean War, and was wounded during an assault upon the Redan. He was sent home to his father's estate near Moscow, and enjoyed the pleasures of a young nobleman until he rejoined the Imperial guard. His colonel was arrested for a political offense, and sentenced to the Siberian mines for life. The captain and eleven officers conspired to effect the release of the colonel, but the plot was discovered and the ringleaders were sentenced to death. On account of his high rank his sentence was commuted to service for life in a Cossack regiment in Eastern Siberia. He escaped from the military prison at Moscow, made his way to the Black Sea, and passed the Turkish dominions. He arrived in New York in 1863 and joined the 7th Volunteer Regiment, serving until the close of the war. In 1870 he went to Rome and made an unsuccessful effort to secure a pardon from the Czar. The death of his grand mother cut off his annuity, but gave him $20,000, with which he returned to the United States and settled in Kansas. His fortune went to waste in a land speculation, and he was thrown upon his own resources, which finally failed to keep him out of debt. He spoke seven languages; he was a graduate of Heidelberg; and he had two unpaid board-bills in his pocket when he dashed out his brains.

A CARD.—I take pleasure in advising all who take out policies of fire insurance, that the Home Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of California, is as prompt in adjusting and paying losses as it is reliable, and recommend all who wish prompt settlement without trouble or litigation, to patronize them. In my case, on the 8th instant I advised the company of my loss. On the 9th it was adjusted, and to-day it was paid.

ROVER AGAIN.

His Sentence Should Not Be Commuted

RENO, January 26th 1878

ED JOURNAL.—It is natural to extend our sympathies to a fellow being when he is in the deepest trouble. For this reason I presume, it is that those who are familiar with the Rover murder case, and fully convinced of the prisoner's guilt of the murder of I. N. Sharp, have been silent, and have hesitated to oppose, openly, a commutation of the death penalty to imprisonment for life. Thus he and his attorneys have not had so far, any opposition in their efforts to obtain a commutation, and to create a sympathy in his behalf, by citing unwarranted reflections against the reputation and testimony of I. J. McWorthy, the prosecuting witness in the case, and by endeavoring to connect him with the murder. But as I see by the JOURNAL of Saturday, some one has ventured to protest against such commutation of Rover's sentence. It opens the door for others to enter my protest also, through the columns of the JOURNAL. As but few of the facts are known to the public (but few, comparatively, hearing the testimony in the different trials in the case, but very little of which has been published and that little very imperfectly,) people are too apt to give credence to the hearsay reports, bogus letters and many factures to see, concocted in favor of Rover, and against McWorthy which are being industriously published and circulated before a sympathetic but unenlightened public. Undoubtedly the papers throughout the State are being imposed upon, as well as the public through such articles published. They all seem to forget that Rover has had four trials and convicted of murder in the first degree in three of those trials. That out of fifty-eight good substantial men carefully selected before whom his case was presented by the ablest of counsel in the most favorable light for the prisoner, forty-two have hung out a verdict of murder in the first degree. If this case has been reviewed by the Supreme Court, then it is a case of which we should be proud. It is a case of which we should be proud. It is a case of which we should be proud.

JACOB PRESCOTT'S, Commercial Row, Reno, next to the Postoffice.

LE SAW THE TWO MEN IN FRONT of the camp just as he had made the turn, and had walked twenty five or thirty steps further on towards the camp when the murder was committed. But by this time an accurate survey, by a professional surveyor of the premises had been made, a map drawn and the exact distances all enumerated. The turn in the canyon was only about fifty yards from camp and his twenty five or thirty steps would bring him within thirty yards or less than one hundred feet from the place of murder—and he in a flat gravelly bottom with no sage brush to conceal him yet he lay down in the sage brush and saw McWorthy drag Sharp up under a tree, situated in another canyon which came down into this main canyon almost directly in front of the cabin, when, in fact the trees spoken of cannot be seen even thirty yards from the scene of murder, and not until one gets right into the camp itself. So Rover must have been right at the place when the murder was committed, or else he lies. He says he was afraid of his life, yet the next morning early he took the only horse in camp, on within thirty miles of him, leaves McWorthy alone in camp and goes four miles on the direct road to Mill City the nearest station, gets water and returns to McWorthy and sleeps in the same bed with him for seven or eight nights, works alone with him in the mine, with no one within miles of them though in terror of his life he never attempts to escape. White men came to the camp during the time, but he says not a word. The disappearance of Sharp is talked about to those men by McWorthy, still Rover keeps silent and when they leave he remains with McWorthy. McWorthy finally leaves and is gone four or five days leaving Rover there alone, yet he makes no attempt to escape. Rover had on new boots sizes seven and eight and the tracks which lead to the different parts of the body where they were buried and which led to their discovery, exactly correspond with Rover's boots that he had on when arrested. The Sheriff made him place his boots in the tracks at the time they were hunting for the body. The tracks were fresh and made apparently but a short time before. As soon as Rover was put in jail he tore off the soles of those boots and destroyed them. McWorthy is a large man and has a large flat foot much larger than Rover's, and makes entirely different tracks from those which disclosed the whereabouts of the puts of the mutilated body. Rover first gave information that Sharp was shot. The authorities supposed that the head had been crushed in with some blunt instrument. He gave the exact spot on the head where the charge entered, and the direction it took into the head. All of which proved correct. No man could have told even thirty years away, the exact spot where the charge took effect, whether in the heart or in the heart unless he held the gun himself.
